REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL
MARTHA'S VINEYARD, MASSACHUSETTS
NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-ONE

FOREWORD

Having worked with the co-operation of a wonderful staff; student body; faculty; patrons; Mr. Charles A. Davis, our principal; and our advisors, Miss Barbara Lassen and Mr. Harry Spaulding; I present to you, THE VINEYARDER, the yearbook of the class of 1961. I hope it brings to you a picture of the days and ways, the activities and accomplishments of the students of Martha's Vineyard Regional High School during the year 1960-1961. In the years to come, may it serve as a reminder of schooldays and schoolmates, and a remembrance of all the delightful experiences that have made up our school lives.

The Editor
Patricia Campos

DEDICATION

We, the graduating class of 1961, dedicate this yearbook to our Vineyard heritage. Fishing boats, sandy beaches, colored cliffs, rolling hills and grapevines—all are part of our rich, full background. Martha's Vineyard is more than a place, it is a unique way of life; and we who are Vineyarders are proudly unique.

We are free from the commercialism which is evident in many places. We live in a geographic entity which is beautifully rural, but we are a community which is entirely cosmopolitan.

As we prepare now to become active members of our community, we think of these and the many other attributes of this island—our island—to which our yearbook is dedicated.

ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

As you came to the new Regional High School for the first time, saw the new building, met new teachers and classmates, and became a citizen of this small municipality of the mind, two years might seemed to have been an eternally, perhaps infernally, long time. However, as blizzards have been wiped out by blossoms and as sand passes through fingers, the years are suddenly gone and you find yourself reading, for the first but by no means the last time, this yearbook, this record of memories.

As a class, individually and corporately, you have attained your goal which at times may have seemed obscured by academic requirements and frustrating discipline. As you progress into the ranks of the alumni, we expect great things of you; and it is my firm conviction that you will not disappoint us.

I join with your parents, teachers, and friends in wishing you success as you go forward in life following the path wherever it leads you.

MR. CHARLES E. DOWNS

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

MR. CHARLES A. DAVIS

Even as we write, the commentators flash news of governments overthrown, countries divided, communism embraced. Such are the times.

It seems ironic then that we look to you, a generation of Americans who have yet to live in a world of peace and good will, for the calibre of leadership that will change the tide.

We hope your grasp of the implements is firm; your every move positive. But how you spend the inheritance of your forebears, whatever be your contribution to the society that has nurtured you, whatever you bequeath to those who inevitably follow—remember: The tools which forge the keys that open tomorrow's doors are in your custody. They are not yours for the keeping, but are to be passed on to your successors as they were passed on by those who preceded you.

Much, then, is asked of you. Courage and purpose; idealism and belief. Principles not always easy to maintain, but without which there is neither realization nor fulfillment. Beware of apathy and inertia, those lethal poisons of the mind and soul; remember that the refusal of responsibility is the refusal of life itself and a human being living up to his capacity is the summation of worth.

Such are the times. Times of great challenge and greater reward. Be concerned with what the future holds and forever hold on to the future. With a belief in your beginning and a pride in your prejudice, we wish you Godspeed.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The School Committee is concerned not only with bonds, budgets, and a building, but also with the promotion of better education.

The only compensation which we seek is the enthusiastic response of students who, by their seriousness of purpose and their excellence of accomplishments, will reflect the wisdom of our policies and directives.

We wish for you, the Class of 1961, a productive future because by your successes we will share with you the rewards of our co-operative efforts.

SENIORS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

This is the student group which worked so hard and made many decisions concerning our senior class activities. Under the leadership of these students, the class of 1961 has held successful dances and food-sales—and most important, “Hawaiian Cruise,” our prom. They are from left to right: Mary Telles, class historian; Sharon O’Neil, secretary; Foster Silva, president; Susan Hendrickson, vice-president; and Trina Kingsbury, treasurer. Their hard work and co-operation led the class in performing its many tasks with efficiency.

TO MISS LASSEN AND MR. VIRCHOW:

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1961, wish to express our sincere appreciation for your able assistance and guidance during these past two years. You have given much of your time both during and after school hours helping us with various activities. Again we wish to thank you for your devoted service.

CLASS HISTORY

OAK BLUFFS

OAK BLUFFS HIGH SCHOOL

The Oak Bluffs High class of '61 began in that thrilling year of '57. I say "thrilling," because it was the beginning of a whole new life for this group of youngsters, and they looked forward to it with anxious anticipation. The efforts of all the pupils to make their teachers think this was a wonderful class were richly rewarded by a lengthy list of freshman names on the honor roll.

The class returned to school in the fall of 1958 eager to participate in sports, chorus, and instrumental music. Yes, I think it is safe to say that this class had great potentialities.

Mr. McCarthy was our class advisor both years. One of the big events of each year was the preparation of the arch under which the seniors marched at their graduation.

TISBURY

The freshmen entered their first high school classroom with scrubbed faces and a brand new outlook on life. Many thought to themselves that this was the first step toward one of their main goals in life—their graduation diplomas. They were quite fortunate to be able to escape the initiation ritual and therefore began high school courageously. Soon they were "in the swing" of things and began to settle down to the routine of studies with Miss Hagerty and Miss Young as class advisors. They were well represented in chorus, sports, and orchestra.

The sophomore year proceeded very confidently, now that the class was acquainted with the school and knew exactly what was expected of them. They held a number of dances and food sales; and knowing that they would soon enter a new high school, applied themselves to their studying. As the end of a short-lived era at T.H.S. grew near, they looked forward to a more profitable future as juniors at the Martha's Vineyard Regional High School.

TISBURY HIGH SCHOOL

EDGARTOWN

The ambitious boys and girls of the Edgartown class of '61 were anxious to be as successful as the classes that had gone before them. They worked hard both in their schoolwork and in extracurricular activities. They were determined not to be left behind by their upper-classmen, and they carried out this determination by becoming excellent athletes, enthusiastic cheerleaders, and fine musicians.

EDGARTOWN HIGH SCHOOL

FOOTBALL SEASON BEGINS

Since no important social events were scheduled, the sophomore year was one for deep thought concerning their future careers and preparation toward attaining their goals in life. However, it was not all work and no play, because the class active in sports and music faithfully attended school dances put on by the other classes as well as their own. Mr. Robichau guided them through both these years. The years passed by quickly and they were now ready to say goodbye to Edgartown High and welcome Martha's Vineyard Regional High School.

MARTHA'S VINEYARD REGIONAL HIGH

The day we had all been anxiously awaiting finally arrived in 1959. Even the bus which we had to take to school was new. We walked into the school, and everywhere we went we saw new faces—both of teachers and of fellow students. Making new and lasting friendships was a wonderful experience, but it played only a small part in our school life. There were a lot of important things for us to accomplish, such as forming track teams and both boys' and girls' basketball teams, training cheerleaders, and organizing clubs. Mr. Virchow and Miss Lassen were assigned to our class as advisors and did much to help us make our stay here pleasant and profitable. As juniors we certainly did our part in bringing credit to our school.

We were more fortunate than the class that came before us in getting our class rings only a few months after the seniors received theirs.

The big event of our junior year was the prom, the theme of which was "Hawaiian Cruise." The class put a great deal of work into this and made it a night to be remembered.

SENIOR YEAR

September of 1960 was the beginning of the end for us. It was the beginning of a year full of important events and even more important decisions. We were approaching the end of our school life and the end of our carefree days. Now was the time when, if we hadn't already done so, we must begin to shape our future. Now we were faced with the fact that within a few months we would be sent out into the world with our hopes and dreams in our hearts and diplomas in our hands.

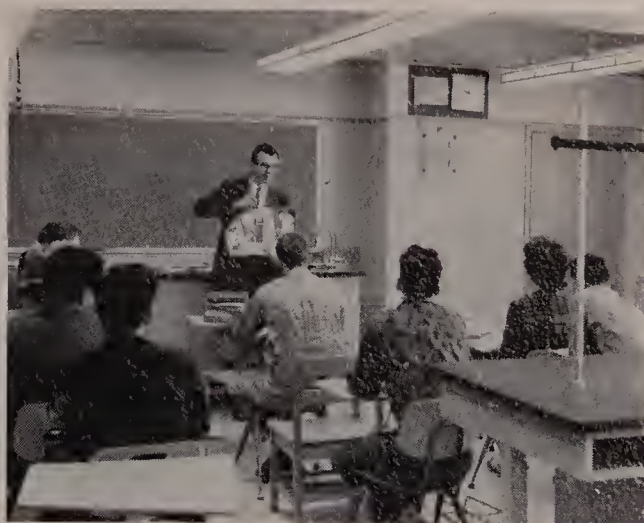

SENIORS ORDERING CLASS RINGS

This last year was the busiest of all four for most of us. It began with the first football game on October 8, played by the first football team of Martha's Vineyard Regional High School; and we are proud to say it ended in a victory for us.

Following the football games came the basketball and track seasons. Again this year members of our class were very active.

Besides participation in sports and music groups, we were busily working on the yearbook, graduation invitations, and class pictures.

PHYSICS CLASS

FOOTBALL DANCE

During the last weeks of our senior year in the midst of class exercises and senior activities leading up to the actual graduation ceremony, we realized that we have now reached the end of our high school years.

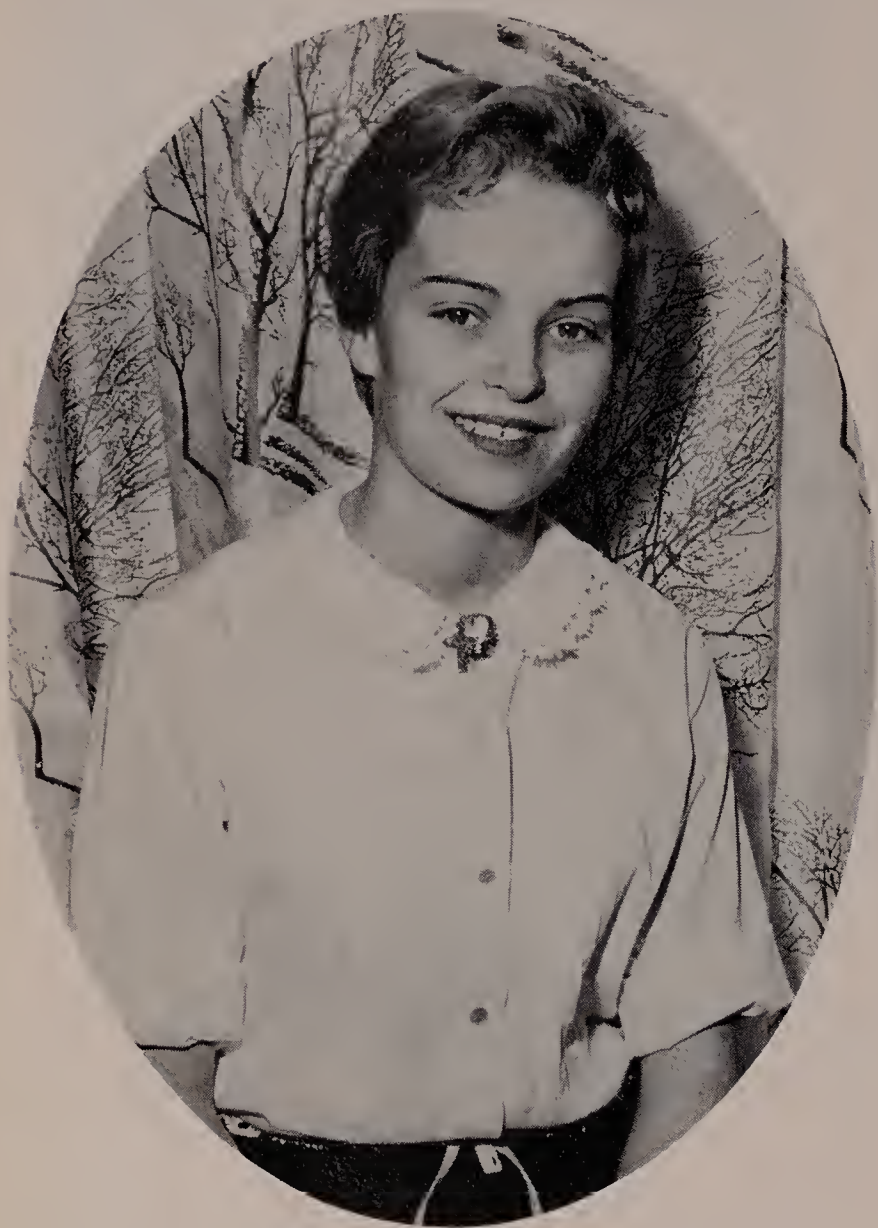

Then came the hour for which we had eagerly awaited, when we walked down the aisle proudly, our heads held high. We had reached the goal which we had set for ourselves twelve years ago.

The Junior class had various projects this year. Our first was selling coke at football games. In November we had a harvest dance. Selling note paper with a sketch of the school, turned out to be a great success. All had fun collecting bottles on a bottle drive in February. A St. Patrick's Day Dance was planned for March. All these projects were to raise money for the most important and last event of the year—the Junior Prom. The Prom Committee did much work to make this a success and to be a memorable night for all.

In September of 1959, the eight grades from Edgartown, Oak Bluffs, and Vineyard Haven were combined to make up the Freshman Class of the Martha's Vineyard Regional High School.

We are proud of the accomplishments of several of our classmates. Kristen Kingsbury won third prize in the "I Speak for Democracy" speech contest. Raymond Smalley came in second in the State Track Meet. Robert Amaral and Raymond Fauteux, who came in seventeenth, also attended this. We also admire the sportsmanship of the football and basketball players from our class.
